

COQ D'ARGENT

Coq d'Argent puns both on the address - No.1 Poultry - and the site's heritage: the new building is the work of the distinguished architect, Sir James Stirling, and occupies the site of the former Mappin & Webb jewellers next to the Bank of England.

Since 1998 Coq d'Argent has been one of London's favourite places for grand celebrations, corporate dining and business meetings. This elegant restaurant offers true distinction and style for all occasions.

Perched on the rooftop of No. 1 Poultry, Coq d'Argent makes subtle reference to a gentleman's club and yet is every inch a modern space, with spectacular views of many of London's major landmarks including St Paul's Cathedral, Mansion House, Monument, the Bank of England, Nat West Tower and the Lloyd's Building. Two glass lifts take guests to the restaurant and its stunning gardens on the sixth floor.

The rooftop garden, originally designed by Arabella Lennox-Boyd, takes its inspiration from Corbusier's Fifth Elevation, bold and formal. Coq d'Argent has its own private garden and terrace with views to St Paul's Cathedral at the rear. The garden and terrace is popular on sunny days, the atmosphere made more evocative by the aromatic planting scheme and tubs of herbs. The two central terraces are surrounded by huge oak pergolas planted with wisteria and uva fragola vines.

The interior of the restaurant is sleek and elegant using rich walnut veneer wall paneling, jura limestone flooring, soft leather chairs and mocha upholstered banquettes. An oval bar is separated from the restaurant by three curved walnut screens. Designed by Terence Conran and Conran & Partners, Coq d'Argent contrasts the dramatic impact of the building by creating a calm, luxurious environment where guests can relax and enjoy great food, good wine, superb service and spectacular views.

The regional French food is seasonal and prepared by Head Chef, Mickael Weiss. Mickael joined Coq d'Argent in December 2000 and focuses his talents on traditional French dishes including coq au vin and canard rôti à l'orange.

"Coq d'Argent really is a great place to meet for drinks, lunch and dinner; we think it's probably the most glamorous place in the whole of London - but that's up to you to decide." Sir Terence Conran
